

CORONAVIRUS, VACCINES, AND THE GREAT RESET

J. VOLKER

12/3/2021

For the past two decades, perhaps longer, the so-called “antivaxers” have been the object of much derision, mockery, and at times, hatred.

Who are the so-called “antivaxers”? According to Merriam-Webster, an “antivaxer” is “a person who opposes the use of vaccines or regulations mandating vaccination, especially a parent who opposes having his or her child vaccinated.” (1) Thus, the antivaxers are evidently a broad group, with a wide range of motives.

Generally, the antivaxers cite suspicions regarding the motives behind a particular vaccine, or vaccines in general, ranging from “I just don’t trust the science” to something along the lines of “Bill Gates wants to implant a microchip under my skin so he can track where I go and identify me with a radar gun.”

Generally, the antivaxers have a few “usual suspects” they point to as perpetrators of this conspiracy: the World Health Organization (WHO), the aforementioned Bill Gates, other prominent bourgeois monopolists like George Soros, the Rothschild family, perhaps the Carnegies or Sacklers, and then of course the major globalist forums and politicians, and all the major health institutions and corporations of a given country – the Center for Disease Control (CDC) in the US, for instance.

Despite not always sharing the same views or opposing the same vaccines, the antivaxers tend to be considered one constituent group, hence, the “antivaxer” label. Because of this, the antivaxers are driven by their critics to naturally coalesce with one another under the umbrella of the “antivaxer” movement, even if they disagree on which particular vaccines are the problem.

For the most part, this community and its movement have never been taken seriously by the majority of people, outside of being seen as a health risk. However, completely independent of the anti-vaccine movement, the medical communities in all countries of the West have seen their credibility eroded over time, particularly in the core of Western enterprise: the United States. Even the most liberals like Obama and Soros have made a fuss over the American pharmaceutical industry’s predatory nature.

The unintentional effect of this has been that, over time, various issues have eroded the faith of masses of people in the medical community as a whole, regardless of the particular issue in question.

In 2019, the inevitable result of these conditions came to fruition. With the onset of a sudden global pandemic, COVID-19, the urgent need arose for the injection of masses of people with a relatively new vaccine, produced by the very companies the public has almost completely lost trust in.

The three main vaccine producers – Pfizer, Moderna, and Johnson & Johnson. Let us consider the boards of directors at these corporations.

At Pfizer (2):

Susan Desmond-Hellmann	Senior Advisor and Board member of the Bill & Melinda Gates Medical Research Institute. CEO of Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation 2014-2020.
Albert Bourla (Chairman and CEO)	Member of The Business Council and The Business Roundtable, an exclusive annual attended by men like Jeff Bezos, Tim Cook, etc. Trustee at United States Council for International Business. "He engages often with business leaders such as Bill Gates." (3)
Scott Gottlieb	Commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) from 2017-2019. Senior Advisor to the FDA Commissioner 2003-2004 FDA Deputy Commissioner for Medical and Scientific Affairs 2005-2007.
Ronald Blaylock	Trustee of Carnegie Hall, a premier globalist organization founded by the bourgeois industrial monopolist Andrew Carnegie. Overseer at New York University.
Susan Hockfield	President Emeritus at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT). President of MIT 2004-2012.
Shantanu Nourayan	CEO of Adobe Inc.
Suzan Johnson	Former Vice-Chairman of Goldman-Sachs bank. Trustee at Brookings Institution, one of the leading Think Tanks in America. Trustee at Carnegie Institute and University of Southern California.
James Quincy	CEO of Coca-Cola – how much do you think he cares about the public's health?
James Smith	Chairman of Thomson Reuters Foundation, associated with the multinational media conglomerate Reuters.

When did the Pfizer vaccine finish its clinical trials? May of 2023 – they are not finished, and anybody taking this vaccine is essentially a test subject for an experimental medicine which has not yet been completely researched. (4)

At Moderna (5):

Stéphane Bancel (CEO)	French financier who was elected the Young Global Leader by the World Economic Forum. Board of Trustees for the Museum of Science in Boston
Noubar Afeyan (Chairman)	Trustee of MIT.
Robert Langer	Koch Institute Professor at MIT.
Dr. Sandra Horning	Editor at Journal of Clinical Oncology, Journal of Clinical Cancer Research, Annals of Internal Medicine, American Journal of Medicine, and more.
Stephen Bereson	Banker at JP Morgan Chase & Co., largest bank in US.

When did the Moderna vaccine finish its clinical trials? October of 2022 – they are not finished, and anybody taking this vaccine is essentially a test subject for an experimental medicine which has not yet been completely researched. (6)

For Johnson & Johnson (7):

Alex Gorsky (CEO)	Director at IBM. “Active member” of The Business Council and The Business Roundtable alongside Albert Bourla, CEO of Pfizer.
Joseph Wolk (CFO)	Member of the CNBC Global CFO Council and the Wall Street Journal CFO Network
Kathy Wengel	Under her leadership, Johnson & Johnson “has been recognized by the World Economic Forum (WEF) with seven Lighthouse designations, more than any other organization.”

When did the Johnson & Johnson vaccine finish its clinical trials? January of 2023 – they are not finished, and anybody taking this vaccine is essentially a test subject for an experimental medicine which has not yet been completely researched. (8)

These corporations were given quite a lot of “philanthropic” money to create a vaccine. From whom? The “usual suspects”: $1.7 billion from Gates (9), over $65 million from the Rothschilds (10) (11), over $130 from Soros (12), over $50 million from Rockefeller (13) (14), $75 million from Carnegie (15)...

Why are they doing this? The kindness of their hearts, surely. Or because the profit made by investing in vaccine companies is far greater than the expense of researching vaccines.

We also must recall the common allegation that the ruling elite are active Malthusians. Malthusianism is a bourgeois doctrine invented by the influential 18th century economist Thomas Malthus. This doctrine asserts that if the population is allowed to keep growing naturally, the world will enter a state of “overpopulation”, and will therefore conclude with a “Malthusian Catastrophe”, wherein masses of people will die in famine or plague and this historical process will continue to repeat itself forever unless artificial population control is implemented through “preventive and positive” measures (i.e. lowering population and encouraging population decline).

It is the idea that, instead of culling the elites, we should cull the masses.

Bill Gates does not help do much to dispel the allegation of Malthusian intent when, in a 2010 TED Talk called “Innovating to Zero”, he states:

The world today has 6.8 billion people. That’s headed up to about nine billion. Now, if we do a really great job on new vaccines, health care, reproductive health services, we could lower that by perhaps 10 or 15 percent. (16)

Similarly:

That is surely a man who is about to save the world from a pandemic.

Bill Gates also runs the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, although the couple is no longer married – Melinda filed for divorce over Bill’s close relationship with the child sex trafficker Jeffrey Epstein, (17) along with other “questionable behavior” such as an affair he had with an employee. (18)

Pictured to the right is Epstein alongside Gates, Boris Nikolic (the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation Science Adviser), and Larry Summers, who is the President of Harvard University (the richest college in the world) and the former US Treasury Secretary, as well as a current executive at Genie Energy company (19) alongside men like Jacob Rothschild, Rupert Murdoch (owner of News Corp, i.e. Fox, etc.), former CIA Director and open Freemason James Woolsey, former Vice President Dick Cheney, and Bill Richardson (the former New Mexico Governor who was directly accused of rape by one of Epstein's victims (20)).

Gates' organization is perhaps the foremost global philanthropic organization in the world, with an endowment of about $50 billion. Is that a comforting thought?

Then there is the WHO – leader of global health and the favored target of antivaxers. They receive their funding from the following:

Ten biggest contributors to the World Health Organization in 2018-19

BBC

It feels worth mentioning that Rotary International is practically a de-facto Freemason organization, and openly talks of its Masonic origins (21) – the Freemasons are the integral unit of globalism, advancing principles such as “the ultimate equality of mankind”, the “belief in a spiritual being” as embodied in “the Supreme Architect of the Universe”, and most importantly, a “New Order for the Ages, uniting all the races, nations, religions, and creeds.” Many prominent monopolists talk openly of their connections to Masonry – Eric Rothschild happily boasts on the Rothschild Archive that “members of the Rothschild family have been involved with the Freemasons”, for example. (22)

Why the emphasis on the Freemasons, when talking about the subject of a global pandemic? That is a question better asked to Bill Gates, because for some reason, with the outbreak of COVID-19, he wrote an open letter to the West Wales Freemasons Lodge where he says the following:

What is the Covid-19 Virus Really Teaching Us? I'm a strong believer that there is a spiritual purpose behind everything that happens, whether that is what we perceive as being good or being bad. As I meditate upon this, I want to share with you what I feel the Corona/ Covid-19 virus is really doing to us:

It is reminding us that we are all equal, regardless of our culture, religion, occupation, financial situation or how famous we are. This disease treats us all equally, perhaps we should to [sic].

It is reminding us that the false borders we have put up have little value.

It is reminding us of how materialistic our society has become. When in times of difficulty, we remember that it's the essentials that we need (food, water, medicine) as opposed to the luxuries that we sometimes unnecessarily give value to¹.

¹ It almost says like Gates is saying the virus helps normalize a worse condition than we live in now. Is this a good thing?

Whereas many see the Corona/Covid-19 virus as a great disaster, I prefer to see it as a *great corrector*². It is sent to remind us of the important lessons that we seem to have forgotten and it is up to us if we will learn them or not. (23)

Does anybody but an arsonist celebrate a fire?

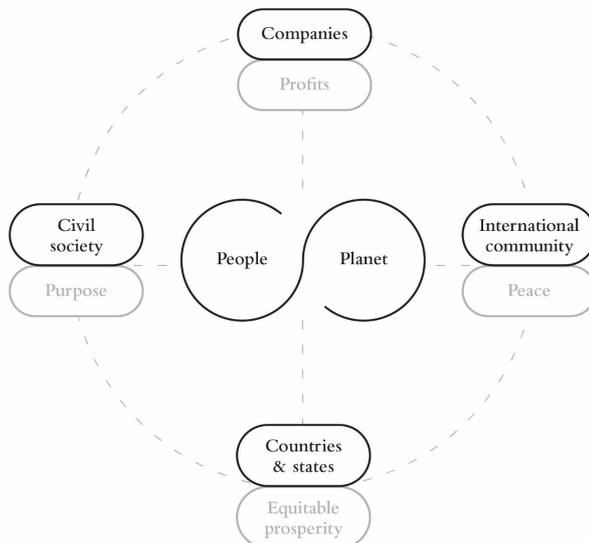

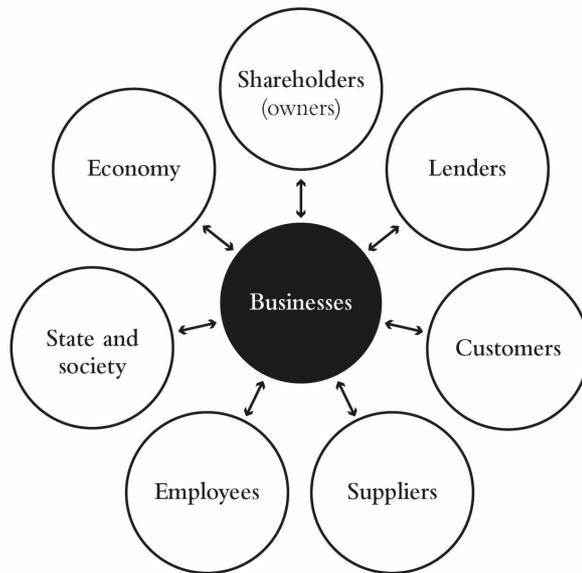

Now, we must pass on to another organization with which Gates and the WHO are affiliated, but which far surpasses their influence alone: the World Economic Forum (WEF).

As Johnson & Johnson earlier put it, the WEF is “an international organization that engages the foremost political and business leaders to shape global agendas.” They advocate their own system of government, “stakeholder capitalism”, “a form of capitalism in which companies do not only optimize short-term profits, but seek long term value creation by taking into account the needs of society at large.” They brag that their scheme “is gaining momentum thanks to Greta Thunberg, the young Swedish climate activist” who is herself a member of the organization. (24)

² Mr. Gates should test this line to the face of someone who lost a family member to COVID.

Here are some amusing charts from the WEF which explain “stakeholder capitalism” for us (25):

WEF seeks to realize this “stakeholder capitalism” through the “Global Redesign”, a project which the University of Massachusetts in Boston suggested was “the most comprehensive proposal for re-designing global governance since the formulation of the United Nations during World War II.” (26)

The WEF is led by its founder, the German-Swiss engineer and cosmopolitan organizer Klaus Schwab (pictured shaking US President Biden’s hand). Schwab stubbornly refuses to identify his parents, but it has become an increasingly popular notion that his father is the late German-Swiss engineer Eugen Schwab, who was known to have indirect ties to Klaus on top of being a ranking member of the Swiss Nazi Party. (27)

It is hard to explain to the reader just how open the WEF is about conspiring to build a “new order for the ages”. By this, I mean they literally use the terms “new world order” (28), “international order” (29) (said by Henry Kissinger, of all people³), and “global polity” (30) (Schwab’s preferred term) to describe their government.

³ Who was on Epstein’s flight logs, too. (39)

Schwab, in an interview with Forbes, said:

The sovereign state has become obsolete. We need a global issue alliance.

[Interviewer:] You mean, a global government?

That's the last thing we want. We facilitate the process of decision making... I would like to educate the world with a new set of Ten Commandments⁴, ethical guidelines that would guide everyone in getting along. (31)

For whatever reason, Forbes concludes its interview with a comment: “If the WEF is world government, let's have more of it.” No wonder – Michael Federle, the CEO of Forbes, is a member of the WEF. (32)

Jennifer Morgan, Executive Director of Greenpeace (a globalist-environmentalist organization), proudly stood up at the 2021 WEF meeting and declared:

We set up a new world order after World War II⁵. We're now in a different world than we were then. The World Economic Forum has a big responsibility to be pushing the reset button and looking at how to create well-being for people and for the Earth. (28)

⁴ Schwab evidently believes he is God.

⁵ This is almost certainly referring to the Bilderberg Group and UN.

The reader may have also heard about the stir later caused by the Australian Public Health Chief Dr. Kerry Chant, when she smilingly declared at a press conference that “we will be looking at what contact-tracing looks like in the new world order.” While many were shocked to hear it, it is again no big surprise: Mathias Cormann, the Australian Minister of Finance and Leader of the Senate, is a member of the WEF too, as is the Chancellor of the Australian National University, Julie Bishop. (33)

The WEF holds meetings between its members every year in Switzerland at the “Davos Congress”, an invitation-only event closed to outsiders and the press. The Davos Congress has its own logos, which look like this:

In the top rendition, it appears the blue is a pyramid while the gold is the sun shimmering above it; and in the bottom, it appears the pyramid and sun are used again. Innocent, serene symbols.

Who attends the Davos Congress? The following are just some attendees of the event in 2020 alone (32).

Carolyn Ainslie, Connie Collingsworth, Rodger Voorhies, Anja Langenbucher.	CFO (Ainslie) and various other ranking members of the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation.
Alexandre Rothschild	Member of the Rothschild family and Chairman of Rothschild & Co. bank. His father, David Rothschild, is a passionate Zionist and the Chairman of the World Jewish Congress. (34) Alexandre replaced David as Chairman of Rothschild & Co. in 2018. David had replaced Evelyn Rothschild, former Chairman of The Economist (1972-1989) and Director of Cecil Rhodes' De Beers diamond mining company (1977-1994). Evelyn's wife, Lynn Forester Rothschild, is a member of the US Council on Foreign Relations and was the one who introduced Jeffrey Epstein to his lawyer, Allen Dershowitz (who would later be accused of rape by Epstein's victims). (35)
George and Alexander Soros	The big man and his son. George is a notorious Hungarian Jewish financier, one of the largest donors of the US Democratic Party who has his own University (the "Open Societies University", which he named in honor of his mentor, Karl Popper, who coined the term "conspiracy theorist" to describe his critics). In his own words, Soros is "a person who at one time engages in amoral activities, and the rest of the time tries to be moral." (36) During WWII, he collaborated with the German Judenratten (Jewish Council) and helped confiscate property from Hungarians before they were sent to extermination camps. In an infamous interview where Soros was asked if this was true, he replied, "That's right." When asked, "Was it difficult?" He replied, "Not at all, not at all. It created no problem at all. No feeling of guilt. There was no sense that I shouldn't be there." (Ibid) Soros and Schwab have much in common.

	Also, George’s nephew, Peter Soros, was on Epstein’s flight logs. (37)
Prince Charles	Member of the British Royal Family. His cousin, Prince Edward of Kent, is the Grand Master of the United Grand Lodge of England, one of the world’s leading Freemason lodges – a picture of him in Masonic apparel is used for the Encyclopedia Britannica page for Freemasonry, meaning “he is such a Freemason that if you look up Freemasonry in the dictionary, you’ll find his picture”. (38) Charles’ brother, Prince Andrew, is a child sex trafficker who was recorded with Epstein moving young girls out of his (Epstein’s) mansion in 2010 (35), was on Epstein’s flight logs (39), was photographed with naked Thai child prostitutes in 2001 (35), and directly accused of rape by Virginia Giuffre, one of Epstein’s victims, who he insists is lying (40). Andrew refused to address the allegations until he attended the WEF meeting in 2015, where he gave a speech promising he wasn’t a child sex trafficker. (41) These are the people trying to redesign the world for “humanitarian” purposes.
Stéphane Bancel	CEO of Moderna.
Tedros Ghebreyesus	Director-General of the World Health Organization (WHO).
Seema Kumar, Jaak Peeters, Paul Stoffels, Alan Tennenberg, Kathy Wengel	Various members of Johnson & Johnson, including the Chief Scientific Officer, Chief Medical Officer, and Vice President.
Ellana Lee, Andreas Schaffner, Olivia Chang, Julia Chatterley, John Deferios, Urs Gredig, Richard Quest, Fareed Zakaria	Various prominent members of CNN.
Rajiv Shah	President of the Rockefeller Foundation, which up until 2018 was under the close watch of David Rockefeller, an unabashed globalist who described himself in his own autobiography, Memoirs , as “part of a secret cabal working to undermine the country". (42) He was also the personal mentor of Jeffrey Epstein responsible for Epstein's position in the Trilateral Commission and Council on Foreign Relations. (35)

Peter Grauer	Various members (including the Chairman) of Bloomberg LLP., the corporation of the Jewish American financier Michael Bloomberg, who is the single largest donor to the US Democratic Party and a close associate of Jeffrey Epstein (39). He is also a member of the Gates Foundation 'Giving Pledge'. (42)
James Dimon	CEO of JP Morgan Chase & Co. bank.

without saying that the Bill & Melinda Gates foundation is listed too. (43)

The WEF has been taking COVID very well, almost to the point of celebrating it. They refer to this catastrophe, which has ravaged the whole world over, as the “Great Reset”, not too dissimilar from Gates exclaiming to the Freemasons that COVID is a “great corrector”.

What is this “Great Reset”?

There is an urgent need for global stakeholders to cooperate in simultaneously managing the direct consequences of the COVID-19 crisis. To improve the state of the world, the World Economic Forum is starting The Great Reset initiative. As we enter a unique window of opportunity to shape the recovery, this initiative will offer insights to help inform all those determining the future state of global relations, the direction of national economies, the priorities of societies, the nature of business models and the management of a global commons. Drawing from the vision and vast expertise of the leaders engaged across the Forum’s communities, the Great Reset initiative has a set of dimensions to build a new social contract that honours the dignity of every human being. (44)

In other words, monopolization and industrialization has reached a breaking point. There are growing to be fewer and fewer countries ripe for the export of capital, and the masses are demanding more than ever before despite the elites having less to offer than ever before. What the WEF's "Great Reset" entails, then, is a period of intense and sudden globalization by forcible and coercive means that have been rendered possible by the pandemic (which began who-knows-where).

Regarding the Great Reset, let us look at an interesting article written by the Zionist Freemason group B'nai B'rith's censorship arm, the "Anti-Defamation League" (ADL)⁸:

A common undercurrent among proponents is a mistrust of vaccines, which they believe will be forced upon people to fulfill the objectives of Bill Gates or the pharmaceutical industry.

Rick Wiles, the antisemitic host of the TruNews streaming media platform, applied an antisemitic gloss to the Great Reset conspiracy theory. In an October 30 stream, Wiles warned that the "Globalist Great Reset" is a "plot to overthrow freedom." Wiles elaborated on Archbishop Vigano's⁹ contention that the Pope

⁸ The ADL was founded in 1913 to censor media after B'nai B'rith member Leo Frank raped and murdered a 15-year-old girl, was convicted, and then lynched by what the ADL describes as "a hate-filled mob" (132). ADL still openly states that "this event made the need for the organization painfully clear", and that the ADL were created to "discourage objectionable media references to Jews" should similar situations ever occur. (Ibid)

may be colluding in the plot. Wiles said: “And what ranks did Pope Francis come from? The Jesuits. And if you get to the Jesuits, you're now talking Freemasonry. And if you're talking Freemasonry, you're talking about the Zionists...It's all one group.” (45)

Similarly, the Institute for Strategic Dialogue says:

The “Great Reset” conspiracy is a small but growing online conspiracy that claims a global elite is using the coronavirus pandemic to enforce radical social change. Right-wing populists have played a key role in mainstreaming it. (46)

But what does the WEF say about this “conspiracy theory”? We should refer to their video, What is the Great Reset? (47). Here is an actual scene displayed in that video:

moving along the Great Reset. As it would happen, the Grand Orient of Italy (Italy's leading Freemason organization) says they believe Pope Francis is advancing “the great Principle of Freemasonry”, too. (131)

The small text on the newspaper – ostensibly written by the WEF themselves – says the following:

The Great Reset has been labeled a conspiracy theory, but everything we know about it comes from the global elites themselves, who have been quite open about it. The Great Reset was unveiled at the World Economic Forum, where many of the world's most powerful people go. They have said that the Coronavirus pandemic is a historic opportunity to change the way the world operates.

Standing in the way: Trump's reelection.

The Elite's new slogan: Build Back Better.¹⁰

The narrator in that video explains the plan to us. "Everybody is asking for a Great Reset," she says. For my part, I can't recall ever once hearing the phrase "Great Reset" in my entire lifetime, but I'll take their word for it. "With everything falling apart, we can reshape the world in ways that we couldn't before."

Such messages are broadcasted to the viewer as they are shown subtle imagery such as the following:

¹⁰ This slogan is now being used by Joe Biden, Boris Johnson, Imran Kahn, OECD, etc.

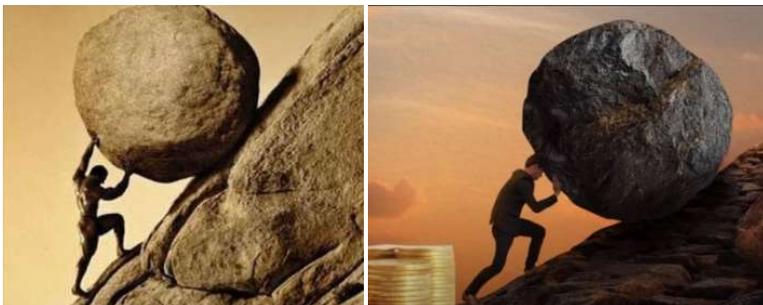

What is that woman in the front wearing?

You would think that, if these symbols aren't intended to mean what everybody is going to think they mean, they would take a little more care not to use them so frequently.

At one point while talking about “stakeholder capitalism”, the WEF shows us an image that looks strikingly like the Greek Legend of Sisyphus, the mortal who was condemned by the Gods to push a large boulder up a hill forever as punishment for outsmarting them. Whenever he gets to the top, the boulder merely rolls back down to the bottom, resetting his progress; he is doomed to repeat this for all eternity.

The reader probably already knows what response the video got.

The WEF responded appropriately:

The pandemic has radically changed the world as we know it, and the actions we take today, as we work to recover, will define our generation. It's why the World Economic Forum is calling for a new form of capitalism, one that puts people and planet first, as we come together to rebuild the world

Ironically, blatant censorship of overwhelmingly negative responses perhaps does a great job of proving why the WEF should not be given control of literally anything. Even The Guardian, an unabashedly globalist publication, writes that “the plutocrat phony religion of philanthropy is no substitute for the state, and neither is ‘stakeholder capitalism’, or whatever expensive rebranding the WEF crowd come up with to sell their old wine in new bottles.” (48)

And The Spectator took issue with how the WEF blatantly celebrated the global lockdown, as if it was for them a mere experiment to see how far people would comply with today’s aristocracy:

The World Economic announced today that “lockdowns are quietly improving cities around the world”.

“Lockdowns significantly reduced human activity, leading to Earth’s quietest period in decades,” the WEF enthused in an article accompanied by a dystopian video showing cities without people. “Urban ambient noise fell by up to 50% at some measuring stations during the tightest lockdown weeks, as buses and train services were reduced, aircraft grounded and factories shuttered.”

It sounds like paradise doesn’t it? Don’t worry that lockdowns have led to job losses, suicides, isolation, mental health issues, bankruptcies, and homelessness. And never mind that every minutiae of life is now dictated by health officers. How's the serenity? Imagine how excited the WEF will be when they realise that cemeteries are dead quiet. (49)

But Schwab and Co. will press on! After all, can we expect anything else from the WEF when they openly conspire to devise a form of “mind control using sonic waves”? As outrageous as that sounds, it is a completely real project the WEF is seriously undertaking. We should quote the WEF briefly:

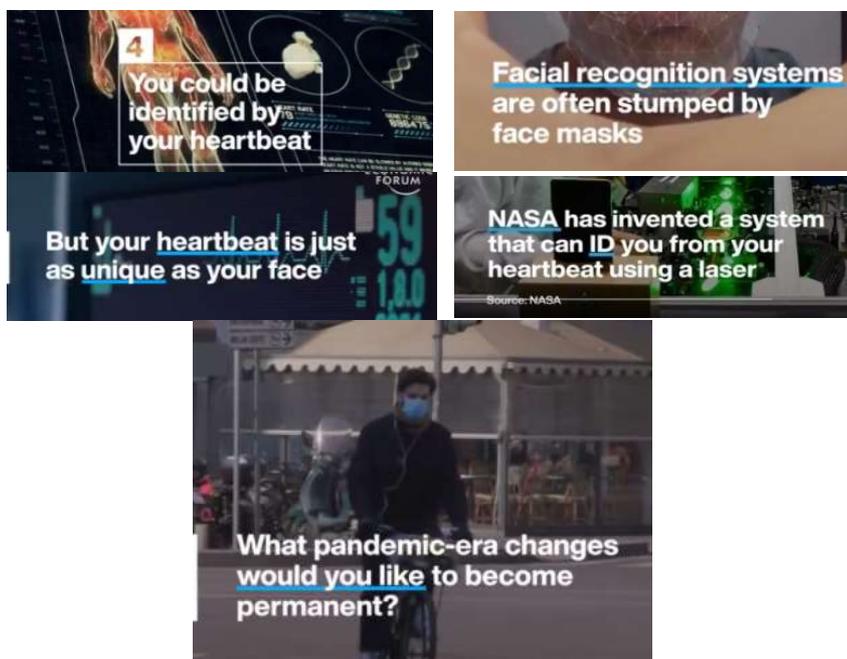

How dystopian could it get? I can see the day coming where a scientist will be able to control what a person sees in their mind's eye, by sending the right waves to the right place in their brain. It could be a perfect controlling tool with which the ruthless control the weak. This time though, the control would be literal. (50)

They unsurprisingly deleted that article, but their Tweet referencing it is still up, even containing the now-dead link.

What else is the WEF up to? Whereas in 2010, the idea that “Bill Gates wants to use vaccines as a cover to implant microchips in your body so that he can monitor your movements and ID you even with your face covered” was an object of hearty laughter, we are now treated to the Gates-funded WEF’s video How Our Lives Could Soon Look (51), where the WEF talks of all the great things global disease has enabled them to do:

Meanwhile, in Sweden, the daily newspaper Aftonbladet reports:

You can now get the COVID certificate available as a chip in your hand or elsewhere under your skin. [Over the past few years in Sweden] it has become increasingly popular to insert a chip into the body with different types of information¹¹, and now you can also insert your COVID certificate in the chip. (52)

Perhaps we owe somebody an apology.

We should now step back from all this and go back to October 2019, immediately before the virus broke out. Here, the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation and the WEF got together to host the “201 Exercise”, which describes itself as “a 3.5-hour tabletop exercise that simulated true-to-life dilemmas associated with response to a hypothetical, but scientifically plausible, pandemic.” (53)

Their findings?

The next severe pandemic will not only cause great illness and loss of life but could also trigger major cascading economic and societal consequences. Efforts to prevent such consequences or respond to them as they unfold will require unprecedented levels of collaboration between governments, international organizations, and the private sector. A catastrophic-level outbreak can have long-lasting effects on the economy and societies in which business operates. (Ibid)

So, it seems that just months before COVID-19 broke out, WEF and Mr. Gates basically said that a “catastrophic-level pandemic” would necessarily lead to rapid progression of globalization (the WEF’s project for a “Global Redesign” was already underway at this point). Sure enough, a catastrophic-level pandemic happened, and they decided to term it the “Great Reset” and “Great Corrector”, and enthusiastically boast about all the ways it has helped them speed up globalization and the Global Redesign.

¹¹ “Over the last few years some Swedish workers have volunteered to have microchips implanted in their hands so they no longer have to carry cash, ID, keys, gym passes etc.” (129)

There is also one curious part of Event 201’s findings that stand out from the others:

Governments will need to partner with traditional and social media companies to develop nimble approaches to countering misinformation. This will require developing the ability to flood media with fast, accurate, and consistent information. Trusted, influential private-sector employers should create the capacity to readily and reliably augment public messaging, manage rumors and misinformation. For their part, media companies should commit to ensuring that false messages are suppressed through the use of technology. (Ibid)

So, not only will this pandemic speed up the Global Redesign – companies also have a responsibility to “suppress” anything deemed to be “false messages” by such organizations as the Gates-funded WHO, since as the reader knows, the first task that comes to one’s mind when combating a global pandemic is how to adequately manage censorship.

But what is the truth?

In America, home of Pfizer, Moderna, Johnson & Johnson, we have the Chief Medical Adviser to the President, Director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID), and Director of the Coronavirus Task Force, Dr. Anthony Fauci.

The reader has likely heard of Dr. Fauci. He is widely known for his competence. That is to say, before the pandemic reached the US, he claimed:

It's a very, very low risk to the United States. It isn't something the American public needs to worry about or be frightened about. (54)

That was just before 777,000 people died under his watch, something he would surely hold the "anti-maskers" or "antivaxers" responsible for if he were confronted. Was he lying back then? Or was he just outrageously incompetent? Was it Fauci who was spreading misinformation, or was it those who reminded Fauci that China had already warned the WHO that COVID was a deadly and highly contagious pathogen?

Yet, it is hard to recall Dr. Fauci ever being “suppressed” for saying this.

It is not an isolated case. Fauci (along with the NIHAD and CDC in general) has demonstrated an extremely fickle character through the course of the pandemic, diminishing his own credibility and the credibility of anyone who props him up, i.e., the entire Western medical system:

5 February 2020	“Masks are really for infected people to prevent them from spreading infection, rather than protecting uninfected people from acquiring infection. The typical mask you buy in the drug store is not really effective in keeping out virus, which is small enough to pass through the material. I do not recommend that you wear a mask.” (55)
8 March 2020	“There’s no reason to be walking around with a mask. When you’re in the middle of an outbreak, wearing a mask might make people feel a little bit better and it might even block a droplet, but it’s not providing the perfect protection that people think that it is. And, often, there are unintended consequences — people keep fiddling with the mask and they keep touching their face.” (56)
3 April 2020	USA Today: “On April 3, 2020, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention began urging people to wear masks in public. Fauci’s position changed, too. The same day the CDC released its new guidelines, Fauci said during an appearance on Fox & Friends that people should wear

Further: “A Rasmussen poll released on Wednesday found about 65 percent of the 1,000 people polled thought political considerations influenced Fauci’s decisions and the statements he made about the COVID-19 outbreak.” (74)

Now: how close is Dr. Fauci to Bill Gates? In an April email, Fauci's colleague Francis Collins writes:

See note below from Victor Dzau about a global effort on COVID-19. I can't tell if this is more than a fund-raising effort. I know we have Gates reps on our ACTIV working groups. (75)

Another email from the Director of the NIH Robert Gallo (and forwarded to Fauci) reminds NIHIAD Director Collins: "As my FDA collaborator, Konstantin Chumakov says, blessed be Bill Gates." (76)

Fauci's credibility was further hurt when it was revealed that he and his NIHIAD were spending millions in taxpayer money on experiments involving locking dogs' heads in cages, filling them with infected sandflies, and then euthanizing them. The dogs' vocal chords were severed and torn from their throats – this way, their agonized howls would not hurt the doctors' ears. As ridiculous as that sounds, it is a fact, which even the infamous liberal "fact-checker" Politifact was forced to admit¹². (77)

Nor did it help when it was revealed he funded experiments on children with AIDS – Associated Press reports the children were

¹² They politely frame the subject as "unpacking the noise around Dr. Anthony Fauci and beagle experiments." (77)

“incredibly sick” when Fauci began testing on them, and that “80 of the 532 children who participated in clinical trials or observational studies died while in foster care; 25 of them died while enrolled in a medication trial.” That is from their article defending Fauci (78).

Unfortunately, none of these scenes made it into that recent Fauci documentary they for some reason made about him.

But back to COVID – what does Dr. Fauci and his NIAID fellows think of its origin? If we look to his leaked emails, we may find that he was told by his associate Dr. Kristian Andersen of the Scripps Research Institute on 31 January 2020:

The unusual features of the virus (potentially look engineered. We have a good team lined up to look very critically at. I should mention that after discussions earlier today, Eddie, Bob, Mike [various high-ranking NIHAID doctors] and myself all find the genome inconsistent with expectations from evolutionary theory. (79)

Echoing a similar sentiment, the former CDC Director, Dr. Robert Redfield, still insists publically:

I do not believe this somehow came from a bat to a human. It takes a while for it to figure out how to become more and more efficient in human-to-human transmission. I just don't think this makes biological sense. (80)

So, just like the WTC7 was a “new type of building collapse never seen before” (in the words of the NIST), Fauci and Friends have managed to find a virus that defies evolutionary theory. The bourgeoisie never fails to incredibly surpass the boundaries of science.

But what does Dr. Fauci say about this in public? On a good day, he says:

If you look at the evolution of the virus in bats and what's out there now, the scientific evidence is very, very strongly leaning toward the notion that this could not have been artificially or deliberately manipulated. Everything about the stepwise evolution over time strongly indicates that this virus evolved in nature and then jumped species. There is no scientific evidence the coronavirus was made in a lab. (81)

Yet, when asked: “Are you still confident that it developed naturally?” Fauci says:

I am not convinced about that. I think we should continue to investigate what went on in China until we continue to find out to the best of our ability what happened. I'm perfectly in favor of any investigation that looks into the origin of the virus. (82)

Why is he going back and forth between “it emerged naturally” and “it was created in a lab in China”?

In fact, on the other side, the Chinese assert that the virus began in the US and was transmitted to China during the 2019 Wuhan Military Games, where the athletes Élodie Clouvel and Matteo Tagliariol were reported to have developed “severe illness” (83). Chinese officials, through the state media outlet CGTN, pointed to the peculiar sequence of events which took place at Fort Detrick¹³, a US military installation in Virginia located just 50 miles from the capital.

Fort Detrick contains the United States Army Medical Research Institute of Infectious Diseases (USAMRIID), one of the foremost laboratories of its kind. It is the only BSL-4 type lab in the country – “Biosecurity Level 4”, the highest designation. They store “almost all known deadly pathogens, such as Ebola, anthrax, smallpox, plague, and coronaviruses including SARS... several staff in USAMRIID have conducted researches related to SARS, MERS and other coronaviruses.” (83)

¹³ The same Fort Detrick that was formerly used for MK ULTRA drug-torture and trauma-grooming experiments by the CIA in the 50s and 60s (134). The Soviets also accused Fort Detrick of being where the CIA created the AIDS virus. At that time, Dr. Fauci was in charge of the AIDS Task Force, where many accused him of intentionally misinforming AIDS patients to get them killed. “History repeats itself, first as tragedy, second as farce.”

Let us look at the timeline of events that occurred at Fort Detrick prior to the pandemic:

20 September 1975	New York Times: “The Army disclosed today that it had covered up the cause of the deaths of three civilian employes who in the 1950s and 60s died of rare diseases that were being studied at Fort Detrick for possible combat use.” (84)
2003	CGTN: “USAMRIID developed a novel reverse genetic system for manipulation of a full-length cDNA of the SARS-CoV, and relevant outcomes were published in a paper in 2003. As early as 2003, these institutes already had the advanced capabilities to synthesize and modify SARS-related coronaviruses.” (83)
May 2014	CGTN: “Waverley View Investors LLC sued the U.S. Army for loopholes in Fort Detrick’s disposal of toxic waste, which caused the levels of trichloroethylene in the area to be 42 times as high as the federal standard.” (Ibid)
February 2015	CGTN: “106 families and individuals from Frederic County of Maryland filed a class action lawsuit against Fort Detrick for harm and death caused by exposure to hazardous materials from Fort Detrick and asked for 750 million US dollars in compensation.” (Ibid)
2018	CGTN: “USAMRIID carried out experiments where African green monkeys were experimentally infected with MERS-CoV to help study viral pathogenesis and develop vaccines.” (Ibid)
30 June 2019	NBC: “Fairfax County health officials said they still don’t have a cause of the respiratory illness that sicked more than 60 residents at a Virginia senior living community. The outbreak began June 30. Sick residents had symptoms such as coughs, fevers and pneumonia.” (85)
July 2019	CGTN: “Army laboratory at Fort Detrick that studies deadly infectious material like Ebola and smallpox was shut down after the CDC issued a cease-and-desist order.

8 August 2019	The New York Times : "Deadly germ research is shut down at army lab [Detrick] over safety concerns. Problems with disposal of dangerous materials led the government to suspend research at the military's leading biodefense center." (88)
August 2019	CDC: "Outbreak of lung injury associated with the use of e-cigarette, or vaping, products. What about Fauci? Has he ever conducted these kinds of “gain-of-function” experiments?¹⁴ 11th of May, 2021, Fauci testified before Congress.

“Sen. Paul, with all due respect, you are entirely, entirely and completely incorrect ... the NIH has not ever and does not now fund gain-of-function research in the Wuhan Institute.”

When Senator Paul started to say, “Government scientists like yourself who favor gain-of-function,” Fauci interrupted, “I don’t favor gain-of-function research. You are saying things that are not correct. (93)

Five months later in October:

The National Institutes of Health has stunningly admitted to funding gain-of-function research on bat coronaviruses at China’s Wuhan lab, despite Dr. Anthony Fauci repeatedly insisting to Congress that no such thing happened.

NIH’s principal deputy director, Lawrence Tabak, wrote in the letter that their “limited experiment” tested whether “spike proteins from naturally occurring bat coronaviruses circulating in China were capable of binding to the human ACE2 receptor in a mouse model.” The lab mice infected with the modified virus

¹⁴ “Gain-of-function research is medical research that genetically alters an organism in a way that may enhance the biological functions of gene products.”

“became sicker” than those that were given the unmodified virus, according to Tabak.

Senator Paul erupted on Twitter following the emergence of the NIH letter, saying: “I told you so’ doesn’t even begin to cover it here.” (94)

So, it appears that Fauci has perhaps committed perjury. How does he address his critics, in the light of this new evidence?

So it’s easy to criticize. But they’re really criticizing science, because I represent science. That’s dangerous.

Anybody [who] spins lies and threatens and all that theater that goes on with some of the investigations and the congressional committees and the Rand Pauls and all that other nonsense, that’s noise. I should be prosecuted? What happened on January 6th, Senator Paul?”¹⁵ (95)

Now: what did Dr. Fauci, head of NIHIAD, write in 2012? He wrote:

Consider this hypothetical scenario: an important gain-of-function experiment involving a virus with serious pandemic potential is performed in a well-regulated, world-class laboratory [Fort Detrick?] by experienced investigators, but the information from the experiment is then used by another scientist who does not have the same training and facilities and is not subject to the same regulations [Wuhan Institute?¹⁶]. In an unlikely but conceivable turn of events, what if that scientist becomes infected with the virus, which leads to an outbreak and ultimately triggers a pandemic? I have said that the benefits of such experiments and the resulting knowledge outweigh the risks. (96)

If this man handed you a pill and told you to swallow it, would you, reader? What if he told you to inject something into your bloodstream?

Against the intended effect, things are only worsened when Reuters takes the time to write an article titled Fact Check: Bill Gates is not responsible for COVID-19 (97), attacking vicious misinformation spread by some random woman at a protest holding up a sign displaying a picture of Bill Gates and text that reads: “When you try to kill everyone with a plandemic but accidentally cause a mass awakening.”

Reuters fumes:

A photo with over 1,400 shares on Facebook shows a poster with a conspiracy theory about the COVID-19 pandemic. Many instances of misinformation related to COVID-19 have referenced Gates. The suggestion that COVID-19 is a deliberately planned pandemic is false. There is no indication or publicly available evidence suggesting that the coronavirus was "designed". (Ibid)

We should give the more conspiracy-minded folks their fair chance to speak – frankly, I wouldn’t even know about this theory if it weren’t for Reuters assuring there was nothing suspicious about it. On 4 April 2019, months before the virus had first been detected, there was a peculiar episode on the fashion TV show Project Runway, produced by Lantern Entertainment – formerly, the show belonged to the (now Lantern-owned) Weinstein Company, owned by Project Runway’s original producer Harvey Weinstein, an Epstein-affiliated (thus Prince Andrew affiliated, with Andrew being WEF affiliated) “longtime contributor to the Democratic Party”, in particular to President Barack Obama, candidates Hillary Clinton and John Kerry, and Senator Chuck Schumer (98) (an open Zionist, Freemason, and Knight of Pythias (99) who was also on Epstein’s flight logs (37)).

For good measure, Weinstein is famously a convicted serial rapist, too; his brother, Bob Weinstein, is still an executive producer on Project Runway; and Lantern Entertainment's "Principal Senior Leader" is Houston Duncan, described in Lantern's own words as "a professional with experience at Centerbridge Partners and Rothschild Inc." (100)

In other words, the show has various ties to the global bourgeoisie.

The Project Runway episode in question features a contestant named Kovid Kapoor, whose (frankly hideous) outfit prominently consisted of a cloth facemask similar to the ones worn now. While appraising her, a judge says: "Wow Kovid! It looks sick. You should probably take the mask off - can you breathe in there?" (56)

After COVID broke out, people began to dig up this (now deleted) video on the Project Runway YouTube page and allege that it was an example of "Predictive Programming" (reader can look it up). Reuters assures: "While authentic, this scene from Project Runway is not evidence of 'predictive programming'. There is no public evidence to suggest the COVID-19 outbreak was deliberately planned." (57)

Alright.

Moving on from the pandemic itself, we should now review the course of the vaccine rollout. With such a powerful and coordinated global force as the WEF behind this project, it is no surprise that the incessant advertising of vaccines has become almost inescapable, and there is a bizarre learned stigmatization of any who defy the “cult of medical experts”, i.e. the “representative of science” Fauci, the bestower of the Ten Commandments Schwab, and the Epstein-pal Gates. There is no reasonable limit to the hysteria – those who were “vaccinated” yesterday are now unvaccinated until they get a booster; those who had a booster yesterday are now unvaccinated until they get a booster today; and so on. With the way some people act on their own free will, one wonders why the WEF even bothers researching “mind control”.

How has the media gone about proving their case to those who don't trust them? Many of us are old enough to remember last year, when the major news corporations were vehemently warning us not to take the vaccine, that it was rushed and thus not trustworthy. For example, on September 4 2020, The Washington Post claimed that the “rush for a COVID vaccine could make it less likely to work.” On September 11, 2020, Time reported that “more than half of Americans worry that government pressure will lead to a rushed coronavirus vaccine.” Vanity Fair then claimed on October 6 2020 that the “rush to release a COVID vaccine has Americans worried.” Dr. Robert Shmerling of Harvard Medical School mentions that “the top reason people gave for putting off vaccination” was that “the vaccines are too new or were rushed to market too fast” (101).

Yet now, the media make every attempt to smear anybody who questions the vaccine as “stupid”, “ignorant”, and so on. Some outlets, like WEF-affiliated CNN, have even taken to outright advertising for Pfizer while at the same time decrying the “conspiracy theories” against Pfizer:

“CNN tonight...”

“Is brought to you by...”

“Pfizer.”

Then the “open minded”, “get hate out of the White House” Don Lemon says:

Stop it. Stop it with the ignorance. We have to stop saying you have to listen to people. No, you don't. These people are being harmful to the greater good. You don't have to listen to a minority of people who are being harmful to the greater good. We need to stop coddling stupid people. 'Oh you can't shame them. You can't call them stupid.' Yes, they are. The people who are not getting vaccines, who are believing the lies on the internet instead of science, it's time to start shaming them or leave them behind.

Just as the WEF ordered: “commit to ensuring that false messages are suppressed” – just “shame them and leave them behind”! That is what people who have nothing to hide would say.

Lemon then bizarrely goes on:

People talk about, well I don't know what's in the shot. I don't know what's in that shot. Do you know what they get shots in nowadays? They're getting shots in their face. They don't know what's in Botox. They don't know what's in this stuff. Nothing wrong with Botox. I tried it once, my eyebrows went up. Nothing wrong with Botox.¹⁷ (Ibid)

These were the best propagandists the WEF could find?

Over at Huffington Post, they are making similarly arguments:

Keep your motherfucking ass at home. Stop running to the hospital, putting everybody else ¹⁷ This weird narcissistic self-obsession makes it too hard not to mention that Don Lemon is an accused sex predator with pending charges.

at fucking risk because your dumb ass is too stupid to go get a fucking vaccine shot. (103)

They have such a way with words. You can't help but be convinced, especially when, during this shaming, The Washington Post reports that "Pfizer took a hard line in push for profit in secret vaccine contracts with governments". (104)

Now, let us look at the mysterious stupid people who are spreading lies. Let us name just one of them: Robert Malone, the inventor of mRNA vaccines! He says he believes the spike proteins generated by some vaccines are toxic, and that the Pfizer and Moderna vaccines worsen infection rather than preventing it. He further suggests the use of the medication ivermectin, which the media then infamously tried to attack as a "horse dewormer" (which is about as honest as calling aspirin a pain medication for horses). Lastly, he Malone complains his LinkedIn account was suspended to prevent him from talking about the vaccines. (105)

Instead of acknowledging his concerns, The Atlantic bitterly wonders: "Robert Malone claims to have invented mRNA technology. Why is he trying so hard to undermine its use?" (Ibid)

This is an interesting question. Malone has no stake in lying about the vaccines, so why is he trying to undermine them? That question is asked by The Atlantic, whose CEO, Nicholas Thompson, was an attendee of the 2020 World Economic Forum. (32)

So: how has the vaccine rollout gone so far? The vaccines have been responsible for multiple heart attacks among professional sports athletes – this is something the CDC itself reports (106). Most notably, the 29-year-old professional mountain bike racer Kyle Warner developed pericarditis (heart swelling) as a reaction to his Pfizer shot, and is now permanently out of the sport due to his illness. He claims that he can “hardly work or ride a bike”, that “even reading makes me feel drained”, that if he “overdoes it, I end up in pain for the next few days,” and that upon getting the shot, he had “a weird metallic saline taste in my mouth” which was dismissed by the doctor. According to Dr. John Cambell, “The fact that you could taste metal straight away is, to me, very suspicious... Basically you’re having the inflammatory reaction in your heart and in your joints instead of in your arm.” (107)

Warner also complains that, upon going to the ER, “the doctor refused to believe it was an adverse reaction to the jab and instead blamed it on a psychotic episode,” and suggested he was a “conspiracy theorist”. Typical bourgeois gaslighting.

But do not worry – the media has this one covered. The following were all published in the period of the last three months:

Rise in heart attacks attributed to pandemic stress and poor diet

Poor diet and stress during the pandemic are likely to have caused a spike in heart attacks in Scotland, according to a leading heart specialist who said it was an outside chance that Covid-19 vaccinations had played a part.

Aseem Malhotra, a cardiologist and chairman of the Public Health Coalition, a charity, noted how in war zones heart attacks and strokes often increase among civilians after the conflict had ended. He suggested that the impact of the pandemic might be creating a similar phenomenon, helping to explain a rise in heart attacks reported by health officials in the west of Scotland.

When the FDA was pressured to release the Pfizer trial documents that led to their authorization of the vaccine, they agreed – with conditions. According to Reuters:

Freedom of Information Act requests are rarely speedy. But when a group of scientists asked the federal government to share the data it relied upon in licensing Pfizer’s COVID-19 vaccine, the response went beyond bureaucratic foot-dragging. 55 years beyond. That’s how long the Food & Drug Administration proposes. If a federal judge agrees, Public Health and Medical Professionals for Transparency can expect to see the full record in the year 2076. (110)

After federal courts ordered Pfizer to release documents sooner, it became quite apparent what is going on. From December 2020 to February 2021, Pfizer began shipping out its first emergency vaccine doses. By February 26, Pfizer had recorded the following numbers regarding “adverse effects” to the vaccine (111):

Gender Breakdown
Female:	29,914
Male:	9,182
No Data	2,990
Total Cases:	42,086
Severity Breakdown
Recovered/Recovering:	19,582

Recovered with lasting conditions:	520
Not recovered at time of report:	11,361
Fatal:	1,223
Unknown	9,400
Total Cases:	42,086
In 4.6% of adverse reaction cases, the vaccine gave the patient COVID-19.

That is the vaccine the FDA consciously authorized for public use. 42,086 injuries, 1,223 fatalities, 1,927 cases where the vaccine gave the patient COVID rather than preventing it. Who knows how many more have occurred in the 10 months since these reports were taken?

The numbers tell us well enough. In the course of ten months, we are left with the following cases of myocarditis and pericarditis (heart inflammation and swelling) per every million treatments (115):

Age Group	Total /million	Female /million	Male /million
12-17	111	39	182
18-24	134	52	215
25-29	69	52	85
30-39	40	32	48
40-49	18	11	35
50-59	22	22	21
60-69	14	8	19
70-79	14	10	18
80+	8	3	12
Total	48/million	25/million	71/million

Compare that to the Measles, Mumps, Rubella (MMR) vaccine, which had just 168 reports of “serious adverse events” of any type across all age groups from the period of 2005-2015 (i.e. 17 events per million doses) (116).

The CDC further reports that, as of the 29th of November of 2021, there has been a total of 10,128 deaths from administration of the COVID-19 vaccine (118) – the CDC assures that “COVID-19 vaccines are safe and effective,” and that “reports of death after COVID-19 vaccination are rare”, “only” 21/million. (119)

The Pandemrix vaccine for H1N1 was famously retracted from markets in the UK after it was found to cause mere narcolepsy (chronic sleepiness) at a rate of only 54/million doses, with lawsuits still going on to this day. (117)

Sleepiness at a rate of 54/million, and nobody dead – pulled from shelves and ending in decades-long lawsuits.

Heart inflammation at a rate of 48/million, and death at a rate of 21/million – a worldwide campaign to coerce the masses into having this substance injected their bloodstream, with incessant shaming and stigmatization of all who refuse.

How times have changed.

Further, the following are the numbers given by the CDC regarding COVID vaccinations (121):

Unable to Work (per 100,000)	Unable to do Daily Activities (per 100,000)	Required Medical Care (per 100,000)
21,900	35,500	1,300
22%	36%	1.3%

Those are quite literally unprecedented numbers. Things get much more worrisome when we check the CDC's Vaccine Adverse Effect Reporting System (VAERS), which gives us numbers on adverse reactions to vaccines in general. Because the VAERS relies on reports submitted by individuals, it is not completely accurate: some cases might not be caused by vaccines, and adverse effects are very likely heavily under-reported, since most people don't even know the VAERS exists. The US government's Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality states that on average, VAERS reports represent less than 1% of the actual number (119); thus, the number should be multiplied by at least a hundred times for an accurate picture of the real figure.

We will not do that. We will pretend the numbers are 100% accurate. If we look at the past ten years of VAERS reports regarding all vaccines (COVID or otherwise), compiled in the paper A Report on Myocarditis Adverse Events in the U.S. VAERS in Association with COVID-19 Injectable Biological Products by the NIH-published Doctors Jessica Rose (of the Israeli Institute of Technology) and Peter McCullough (Vice Chief of Internal Medicine at Baylor University Medical Center and Professor at Texas A&M University), we are treated to the following (122):

Year	Reports of Adverse Effects	Reports of Death
2011	25,408	173
2012	26,668	166
2013	29,736	129
2014	34,340	131
2015	44,422	149
2016	45,706	177
2017	38,911	120
2018	49,137	163
2019	48,444	183
2020	49,412	166
2021	521,667	7,662 ¹⁸

Reuters says: “False. COVID-19 vaccines are safe. The claim is based on misinterpreted data.” (123). That is the same Reuters whose President, Michael Friedenberg, is a member of the WEF – as are the Reuters editors Stephen Adler, Robert Cox, Alessandra Galloni, Simon Robinson, and Axel Threlfall (32).

Maybe VAERS, which the US Government says represents only a hundredth of the real figure, is actually slightly overreporting, as Reuters implies – but then, so are the previous years, no? No matter what, it is undeniable that a huge increase in reports has taken place the same year the COVID vaccines were released.

The Pfizer company is unphased. They have gotten the FDA's approval to launch experimental vaccination of children aged 5-11 (112), even announcing intentions to ban unvaccinated kids from public schools in some states like California and Illinois (113).

Yet, according to the CDC, children aged 5-11 in the US account for a mere 66 total COVID deaths out of 1.9 million pediatric COVID infections (a rate of around .003%) – less than influenza, which has killed 84 children in the same time (124). Why should they take the risk with the vaccine?

It is also worth bringing up that the children's shots are special – they for some reason contain tromethamine, a blood acid stabilizer that prevents heart attacks. Of course, WEF-affiliated Reuters promises that “Pfizer is not including tromethamine in its vaccine to counter side-effects”; they are just trying to “extend the drug's shelf life” (114), since if the drug were to quickly expire, who knows what kind of reaction that could cause in children? (A heart attack.) Why are they not putting tromethamine in the adult COVID vaccines, to extend their “shelf lives” too?

All this inevitably leads one to ask: what do the CDC and Pfizer actually think of their vaccines?

At the CDC, 75% of workers still work remotely from home – are they not vaccinated? The CDC Director Rochelle Walensky further refused to answer during her testimony before Congress when asked a question regarding what percentage of CDC employees have been vaccinated – she claimed she did not know the number (122).

For Pfizer, we may turn to a series of videos released by Project Veritas, an activist project founded by the journalist James O'Keefe. Veritas utilizes hidden camera meetings to record prominent members of corporations revealing their true opinions on matters in private, whether innocent or malicious. Perhaps it's an unethical way of reporting, but oh well, we can't do anything about it now except watch the videos.

Throughout 2021, Veritas released footage of a series of meetings with Pfizer scientists. One was Chris Croce, Pfizer Senior Associate and Researcher:

[Interviewer:] Should I get the vaccine?

Wait. You're probably protected more than the vaccine [if you get COVID]. You're protected likely for longer, since it was a natural response. (120)

Croce and the interviewer then begin talking about the Pfizer company:

[Interviewer:] What about monoclonal antibody treatments?

Pushed to the side.

[Interviewer:] Why?

Money. It's disgusting. I mean, I feel like I work for an evil corporation. I'm there to help people, not make millions of dollars. But basically, our organization is run on COVID money now. It netted like, over $15 billion last year. They're trying to keep track of everybody that's been vaccinated, which in my opinion is a violation of HIPPA. No one has the right to ask you if you've been vaccinated. It's an invasion of privacy, I don't agree with it.

I mean, you have multiple companies that were basically given a crap ton of money to produce vaccines, and they're pushing 'em.

[Interviewer:] Good thing you didn't get any heart inflammation, cause that's a problem right?

Yeah. More so for younger people. That's what we're looking into right now. We just sent like 3,000 patients' samples to get tested for elevated troponin levels¹⁹, to see if its vaccine based. In my opinion, that might pull something from the market.

¹⁹ High troponin levels indicate risk of heart attack.

...There's ears and eyes everywhere, at Pfizer. In the building. You don't talk about anything that can possibly implicate you or Big Pharma. Even if you shut the door, it's kind of like, 'Who's listening?' (Ibid)

There was also Rahul Khandke, another Pfizer Researcher:

We are bread and taught that the vaccine is actually safer than getting COVID. And honestly, we had to do so many seminars, you have no idea. We have to sit there for hours and listen to them say, "You can't talk about this, it's not public." But logically though, if you have antibodies built up... I don't know, that doesn't seem too crazy. (Ibid)

And Nick Karl, a third Pfizer Researcher:

When somebody has got COVID, they are naturally immune. They probably have more antibodies against the virus [than if they were vaccinated]. Because what the vaccine is -- that protein, that's just on the outside. So its just one antibody against one specific part of the virus. When you actually get the virus, you're gonna start producing antibodies against the inside portion, the outside portion, the actual virus. So your antibodies are probably better at that point than the vaccination.

...I have specifically like – oh God, I signed non-disclosure agreements on this... I feel like what they're doing – for instance, the city needs vax cards and everything – it's about making it so inconvenient for people that they are like, “Alright, fuck it, I’ll get it.” (Ibid)

Hilariously, Twitter labels the video – which has been viewed 5.6 million times – as “misinformation”, and now prevents anybody from liking or sharing it when it is posted. “COVID vaccines are safe for most people” the misinformation label reads without elaboration, in blatant contradiction to what the employees of Pfizer say in the video.

On that subject, let us refer to Project Veritas’ “sting” of CNN Technical Director Charlie Chester, where he describes the tactics and intentions of his company:

Fear sells. No one ever says these things out loud, but it’s obvious. The head of the network. Zucker²⁰. I imagine that he’s got his counsel and they’ve discussed the next pandemic-like story that we’ll beat to death. They’ve already announced in our office that once the public is, will be open to it, we’re going to start focusing mainly on climate. That one’s got longevity. Climate thing is gonna take years. So, they’ll probably be able to milk that for quite a bit.

I mean, it’s just like propaganda. You can shape an entire people’s perception about anything on how you do it. Right? Just by forcing a story, to help like, your platform, you know? Listen to the way they ask questions. Because they're not actually asking questions. What they're actually doing is telling the person what to say. We lead them to talk about how we want them to talk about it. I mean, there's no such thing as unbiased news. It just doesn't exist. There's too many agendas. There's too many people that have jobs, that need to feed their families for it to be unbiased. It's impossible. (121)

People you can trust.

Still, the great bourgeois philanthropists of the West have pushed on in their humanitarian goal. President Biden has gone as far as mandating vaccines for all federal employees – this is despite the fact that, as Health Leaders reports, “a whopping 70% of unvaccinated Americans would quit their job if vaccines are mandated.”

Unsurprisingly, the mandate led to just that: we have now seen the shutdown of hospitals due to doctor walkouts – the Mount Sinai Long Beach Hospital, for example, fired 72 doctors and then announced it was closing due to a staff shortage – and also several walkouts of dock workers, leading to a breakdown of the supply chain which, hilariously, the media can't seem to figure out whether they should acknowledge or deny:

Global supply chain problems now leading to empty shelves at grocery stores

 By Rob McMillan

This whole process has more or less repeated itself throughout Western Europe, and it has become most intense in Australia – here, the government has gone as far as sending the police to harass people in their homes for attending anti-vaccine protests, deployed soldiers on said protests, and above all else, they have begun to send military units to “transport” the unvaccinated (including children) to “quarantine” camps.

As even The Guardian warns: “Experts are against billionaires’ plans for privately run Australian quarantine centres.”

An amusing parallel others have pointed out: the following is a meme from around 2008 making fun of antivaxers and their paranoia regarding how much power pharmaceutical companies have:

The following is an Australian vaccine mandate protest, 2021:

Meanwhile, in Germany, they have outright ordered a lockdown of any and all individuals who refuse to receive an injection of the experimental vaccines. and in Austria? Here, you may go to prison for refusal to be vaccinated.

So much for the “conspiracy theory” decried by Vice News in 2020:

Around the world, countries like Canada and Sweden have taken to “vaccine passes”, i.e. barring people from the country, and barring people already in the country from most social life, until they agree to have the vaccine tested on them. The WEF excitedly advertises its “CommonPass”, an app where users upload their lab results to an online database in exchange for a sort of “universal passport” with any companies signed up for the program. They promise us that your “Data is kept safe; privacy is a key part of the initiative, and CommonPass says data will only be shared with the user’s explicit, informed consent”. We’ll take their word for it. (123)

Of course, the CommonPass project is now being tested where all innocent, non-invasive, completely philanthropic corporate initiatives begin:

But what is the point? While all this vaccine hysteria was going on, the “Delta” variant arose, and according to Dr. Fauci:

This variant is much more capable of transmitting from people to people. And we know now-[Interviewer:] Even vaccinated people.

Even - well, yes, that's the point. (72)

Then there was the “Lambda” variant – who knows where that one went? And now, the vaccines have been just about totally invalidated: we have the new “Omicron” variant, and Moderna now tells us that “an Omicron variant vaccine could be ready in early 2022.” (124)

In other words, all of these measures were basically worthless, anybody who submitted to the vaccine experiment is now actually unvaccinated, and the whole world is going to have to repeat this entire process all over again. Guess what the WEF has in store?

The Omicron variant is here - what comes next? The temporary Omicron crisis will: Jolt more-vaccinated countries out of complacency regarding the need to push through to higher vaccination levels, with new incentives and mandates to reduce hesitancy, and inspire greater public support for containment measures like masking and distancing, that are needed until vaccination reaches the required critical mass. Remind the global community of the shared risk that persists as long as developing countries remain largely unvaccinated, and therefore mobilize a faster roll-out of vaccines globally (as the IMF has called for), through donations, IP licensing and more coordination. Justify continued government support for economies, building the case for a new era of activist government, applied science and technology, and stakeholder capitalism, as outlined in our Uplift Scenario. (125)

This fact even managed to break even Trevor Noah, an extremely ardent liberal who has persistently attacked the antivax crowd for the duration of the pandemic. Feeling disillusioned, he recently said on his show:

So on the one hand, almost all the Omicron cases have been mild so far. But on the other hand, the guy who stands to gain millions of dollars from new vaccines says we need new vaccines. I'm not saying the CEO of Moderna is lying, I just don't think he's the most objective source on this topic. (126)

Just wait until Mr. Noah learns the CEO of Moderna (Stéphane Bancel) is a member of the WEF together with the Director-General of the WHO (Tedros Ghebreyesus), and has been since before the beginning of the pandemic.

Last, we should ask ourselves: when all these variants finally pass, and COVID is over at last – then what?

Bill Gates call for huge global effort to prepare for future pandemics

WORLD

Bill Gates Says We Aren't Ready for the Next Pandemic

Tens of millions have fallen into extreme poverty during the Covid-19 pandemic, Gates Foundation says

In conclusion, we must ask ourselves: what has this bourgeois charade “in our interest” led to? The antivaxers, who were once an isolated element kept barred from most public institutions for their choices, mocked as outsiders, are suddenly – as if overnight – the majority in western countries. And so, when the tides recede, we will come to see that instead of delegitimizing the COVID-19 antivaxers, the pious liberals will have legitimized antivaxers in general. There will be a whole new wave of people – people who never seriously considered an antivaxer's arguments in their lives – who are pushed into the antivaxer movement, and further, into distrust of medical professionals and media in general. And it must be said that pandemics are not an extraordinary phenomenon: they have happened through all history, and one of this scale will inevitably happen again (just ask Mr. Gates). The already delegitimized system will then have to stand from its creaky chair and prove itself all over again. This process can only repeat itself so many times before it starts to breed inevitable results.

While they thunder – “Leave them behind!”
The masses respond – “Yes, go ahead of us – march right off the cliff!”

The tried-and-true weapon of the liberals, that of shaming and blaming, is rusting. It seems that to convince just one person, they must provoke ten thousand into permanent distrust. It is a matter of time before nature takes its course.
